Time: 13:30 – 15:00

Organized by: North Rhine Westphalian State Agency for Nature, Environment and Consumer Protection

Session type: Presentation(s) with Question and Answers and Workshop

Level of access: Open

Session description:

With this session we want to offer a contact and exchange platform for regional level institutions with focus on monitoring climate change effects and developing adaptation strategies with regard on following keynote talks:

1. A monitoring program to record climatic changes in North Rhine-Westphalia
2. The climate analysis as a tool to cope with a warming climate in urban areas

Both short keynote talks are firstly addressed with perspectives from our agency, in the following we want to provide time for discussion and exchange on both key questions.
